

LOWER PRICE LEVEL CERTAINLY COMING

Says Comprehensive Economic Survey Submitted to American Bankers' Association

(By Associated Press)

Pinehurst, N. C., May 4.—Neither money, transportation costs, taxation nor labor can effectively or permanently avoid the irresistible forces that are working toward readjustment on a lower level, John S. Drum, San Francisco, president of the American Bankers' Association, declared in a survey of the economic situation in the United States submitted to the association's executive council here today.

Mr. Drum's statement was based on more than 1,000 replies to a questionnaire sent by the association to bankers, heads of transportation companies and other business leaders asking for authoritative opinions as to financial, commercial, industrial and agricultural conditions in the nation.

All elements in the nation's economic life must fall into line in the process of readjustment, the report said. "It would work to the disadvantage of factors that would, if they could, keep out of line with the rest," it said. "The weight of opinion is that this tendency toward stabilization will not be accomplished in the year or the two years that line just ahead of us."

An abrupt transition from the inflation resulting from the war to normal conditions of peace is impossible, Mr. Drum declared. "The process of readjustment must be gradual," he continued. "First, one element, then another, feels the operation of the inexorable forces that are working to restore normal conditions."

Mr. Drum declared pessimists have told us that a world disrupted by war is being speeded by irresistible forces on the road to economic ruin, while extreme optimists say that around the next corner lies unbounded prosperity, waiting only for our arrival at the turn. Neither belief was substantiated by Mr. Drum, who said that common sense, and a knowledge of fact, with clear vision, must guide the nation in its struggle to solve the broad economic problems that have grown out of the war and the peace.

"Our survey has shown that the great economic problems fall into two classes which may be expressed in terms of the problems of production and those of costs and markets," the survey said. "Under the problem of costs we have these factors:

"Labor, materials, transportation, money and taxation.

And the problems of markets are these:

"Domestic—Decreased purchasing power, the buyers' strike, disinclination of sellers to take losses and cancellation of orders. Foreign—Decreased purchasing power of Europe, inadequacy of present credit agencies, European political and social disorganization, cancellation of order and exchange."

Discussing labor the survey said wages did not rise as rapidly as commodity prices during the war and the inflation period and their general tendency will be the last to fall with readjustment. Thousands and thousands of workers, however, have been thrown out of employment when costs of production were reduced as a result of the decline in the world's purchasing power and the consequent restriction of demand.

Wage reduction have been accepted in many industries but not in building trades and among the railway employees, Mr. Drum said. "The effect of this resistance to the economic laws working toward stagnation is apparent in comparative stagnation in most parts of the country in all except essential building construction and in the great decrease in railway traffic because of high rates caused by operating costs," he added. "Labor no more than any other factor can successfully resist the operation of economic law; a Danish king once tried to stop the tide."

Under the heading of "Materials" the survey said they were the first of the elements to feel the upward impulse when the war came and already were the first to respond toward a new lower level. It is difficult to say whether er industrial activity in the United States or reduced manufacturing ability of European countries has been the more potent factor in decreasing the prices of raw materials. The weight of opinion is that as readjustment at home and abroad progresses there will be a reaction and products of our farms and forests and mines will move. Much of the product is lying idle, although prices in some instances are as low or lower than those before the war.

Touching on the railroad situation, Mr. Drum declared rate increases at a time when other services and commodities were falling had a disastrous influence on the nation's business.

Questions in the survey regarding taxation showed there is discontent with systems of taxation, which Mr. Drum said never were just in principle nor scientific in method of collection. There is virtually unanimous opposition to the excess profits tax. Majority sentiment favors a sales tax to replace the excess profits tax. Opposition to a sales tax was found among retailers.

Answers to the questionnaires, Mr. Drum said, showed there is reasoned opposition to cancellation of the Allied debts to the United States, based chiefly on the argument that cancellation would greatly increase taxation in this country. It was further felt that foreign governments do not desire cancellation, theory being that it would weaken the efforts of European countries to restore sound financial practices. The minority favoring cancellation argued it would operate to stimulate foreign trade by relieving the European credit situation and by stabilizing exchange.

Other answers indicate that liquidation has not yet proceeded to a point that will make possible reduction of interest rates at least before the last months of this year. The basis for this belief is found in the low liquidation of commodities, with the resultant freezing of domestic and foreign credits and in continued government borrowings.

Despite a buyers' strike, many retailers were unwilling to take their losses and sell for lower prices, Mr. Drum said, in discussing domestic markets. This condition existed for a time, he declared, but has changed and many retailers are marking down prices to a basis of present costs.

Cancellations of orders followed reduced sales and, as a result, there are now great quantities of all kinds of manufactured goods for which there is no demand, lying in the hands of manufacturers. Cancellations were most serious last fall, but the situation has been righted to a considerable extent.

Opinions indicate that the decline in domestic markets to a great extent has been caused by and is a reflection of an even more serious fall in foreign demand for American goods.

"Europe needs our goods, but has not the money, nor can she arrange the credits that would enable her to purchase them," Mr. Drum said. "The United States, pre-eminently the creditor nation of the world, must do for the whole world what the old world did for us when we as a nation were younger."

"We must help the countries of the world financially as they can become customers by using our raw materials and our manufactured goods in such quantities as will keep American capital and American labor and American natural resources employed to a full capacity. We must become a nation of foreign traders."

"Neither England nor Germany or any other great trading nation had at any time in its commercial history the great opportunities that lie at the doors of the United States today. World's capacity for consuming American products depends upon the world's productive ability, its power to create wealth with which to pay for the raw materials and the manufactured goods it needs. And America, the creditor nation of the world, the reservoir of world's gold and credit, must by investment in foreign countries help to create in that productive ability. The United States alone can help financially to restore to the world that machinery which is necessary to revive and sustain the flow of America's foreign trade."

And the bankers of the nation, Mr. Drum concluded, must take the leadership. "We, as bankers,

THREE MEN HURT WHILE LOADING TIES

BETH-SHAN MAY COVER 7 CITIES

Philadelphia Pa., May 4.—Relics of seven or more cities which successively stood on the same site and of nine different civilizations are expected to be uncovered by the excavation of the biblical city Beth-Shan, in Palestine, which is to be undertaken in June. The work will be done under the direction of Clarence S. Fisher, Curator of the Egyptian section of the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania. Official permission to undertake this work has been received from the government of Palestine.

Beth-Shan is now known as Beisan. It is situated in the valley of Jezreel, just west of the Jordan, and not far south of the Sea of Galilee.

More great battles are believed to have taken place within sight of this city than, perhaps, on any other spot known to history. The investigators hope to find there the keys to the whole history of that section of the world written either on marble slabs containing the laws, decrees, treaties and other information or on bronze tablets or written in clay with cuneiform characters.

Beth-Shan was a strategic point of value to any of the great military leaders of ancient times who aspired to try his hand at world domination. It was on the route of all the builders of ancient empires.

Beginning 5,000 years ago it suffered the blows of the armies of Sargon, Saul, David, Abraham, Hammurabi, Sennacherib, Nebuchadnezzar, Thothmes, Alexander, Pompey and Napoleon. Joshua led his troops against Beth-Shan but could not take it because its defenders used iron chariots—foreshadowers of the tanks of the world war.

The Crusaders made Beth-Shan a point of attack in their vain effort to conquer Damascus. When the Assyrians came down like a wolf on the fold, Beth-Shan was one of the places they took and it has been dominated in turn by the Greeks, Romans and Arabs.

The investigators expect to find there the strata of perhaps more than seven cities built upon the ruins of the other as successive waves of invasion swept over and destroyed it. It is within sight of the Mount of Transfiguration, the scene of battles between David and Saul, and the Witch of Endor who recalled the shade of the prophet Samuel to enlighten Saul, had her home near this ancient city whose secrets now are sought.

The editor of this paper, who is a sort of self-supporting treasurer of the Barnes Monument Fund is glad to report that he has to his credit as treasurer at the Lincoln County National Bank, $906. It is greatly desired that $1,000 be raised, as that will place over the graves of the good evangelist and his wife something like a fitting monument to their memory. Barnes will greatly appreciate any contributions and they ask that they be made in time that the monument may be in place by late summer or early fall. If you have not made a contribution to this fund, please do so now.—Stanford Journal.

GENERAL DELIVERY RULING FROM HAYS

Postmaster R. C. Stockton has received a recent ruling of the Postoffice Department which will be of much interest to the public. The order, conveyed in an official bulletin to all postoffices, is in relation to the general delivery service, and is, in substance, about as follows:

"It seems that postmasters are not making a proper effort to restrict the general delivery privileges at city delivery offices to transients, and to patrons who, for good and sufficient reasons, acceptable to the postmaster, cannot receive their mail by carrier or through a postoffice box. Therefore, in all cases where the attendant facts are unknown the postmaster will require persons calling at the general delivery window to establish their identity, supply their local addresses, and state their reasons for not taking advantage of the carrier delivery service."

When there is any question as to the propriety of extending the general delivery privilege the clerk in charge must confer with his superior officer, and if then advisable, request the patrons to take up the matter with the postmaster or the Superintendent of Mails."

PLANNED TO REFUSE CUPID TO BE HERE

(By Associated Press)

As heretofore announced, Rev. John VanLear, of Little Rock, Ark., has accepted an invitation to deliver the baccalaureate sermon to Senior Class of Eastern Normal school on Sunday, June 19. Last week he wrote Hon. J. A. Sullivan, local regent, that on Friday evening, June 17, a young lady and member of his congregation, desired him to perform the marriage ceremony at her wedding, and while he would be glad to perform the wedding ceremony, yet he would not remain to do so if it prevented his coming to Richmond and delivering commencement sermon at the Normal chapel.

On investigation it was found that Rev. VanLear could perform the marriage ceremony at Little Rock on Friday evening and deliver the sermon at the Normal on Sunday, also by coming to Lexington on the Southern Railway and thence in auto to Richmond June 19th, and he was so informed.

BIG DAY'S WORK IN CIRCUIT COURT

Lots of Business Cleared up With Quite a Number of Liquor Cases Disposed of

Not in a long time has as much work been accomplished in one day of Circuit Court as Judge Shackelford got through with Tuesday. The Big Judge had his working clothes on for sure, and the way he kept things moving was a sight to see. Quite a number of the cases that were heard the opening day of court had to do with liquor law violations. And in these cases, the jurymen seemed to have their "working clothes" on too, for several of the boys caught the limit and will find it rather expensive to fool with the stuff again.

The petit juries empanelled Tuesday morning for this term of court are composed of Messrs. Wilson Brandenburg, C. M. Todd, Speed Taylor, Robert Dunn, I. G. Million, Charles Curry, W. N. Wheeler, Joe Mason, R. S. Hendren, Curt Parks, W. R. Black, B. J. Cotton, Eugene Barnes, H. S. Morgan, John F. Denham, Joe Bender, Alfred Crews, T. J. Tribble, B. F. Reeves, Cecil Hayden, Starling McKinney, W. O. Hendren, Jonah Wagers, John Allman, W. D. Allman, Carl Willoughby, Oscar Hendren, J. W. Deatherage, Algin Brandenburg, and A. J. Suit.

Among the cases disposed of Monday were the following: Gilbert Casteel, of the Berea section, giving liquor to a minor, $50 and costs; James Short and Alma Arthur, giving $20 and costs; Andrew Ross, Robert Layton, Claude Denny, and Ike Hollingsworth, same charge, $20 and costs; Grover Mitchell, of the Wallacetown section, charged with unlawful taking without felonious intent was fined $100 and costs.

In view of the fact that he did not file a response to the rule for contempt of court against him, Sheriff Will Baker, of Jackson county, had the rule against made absolute by Judge Shackelford and was fined $25 in court Tuesday. It was charged that the Jackson county official failed to serve summons upon Dr. L. J. Godfrey, of that county, to appear here as a witness against Sid Diggs. The latter, of near Berea, was charged with attempting to administer poison to another, but upon motion of the Commonwealth, the charge was filed away, due to inability to secure witnesses, etc. An attachment (Continued on 5th Page)

AT THE MOVIES

Fate is oftentimes the cruellest of jesters. Jacqueline Floriot's piteous life story bears vivid evidence of this. Turned from her home and family by her remorseless husband, a deputy attorney of Paris, she is unable to escape the dread shadow of a fate that crosses her baffled footsteps with ever increasing menace. Fate, in the guise of her husband's unjust suspicions, denies her the right to see her son; fate places in her hands the weapon which destroys the career of her husband, now a judge; and fate brings her before the bar of justice where her husband presides and places her fight for life in the hands of her son—counsel for the defense. And having played trumps to the last fate plays its joker, the highest card of all—death. Pauline Frederick in the role of Jacqueline Floriot brings an emotional art to the screen more intensified than any ever displayed by this popular star. You may have seen the stage version of this famous play—most everyone has, now see Goldwyn's masterful, heart touching picturization of "Madame X" at the Opera House tonight.

TO BEAUTIFY FAMOUS CONFEDERATE STONE

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., May 4—Steps are being taken to beautify the Confederate Monument which stands in the middle of Third street in the southern section of Louisville.

Flowers will be planted around its base within a few days, according to the Park Board, which does this work annually. In addition, two big stone blocks which were knocked down and broken by automobiles that crashed into them are to be replaced immediately. The two big electric lamp that were broken in the collision are almost ready to be remounted. The lamps would have been replaced by new ones, but citizens desired that the old ones be fixed and restored, according to Thos. B. Crutcher, chairman of the Louisville Board of Public Works which has charge of the reconstruction work of the monument. The lamps were of an unusual design and were sent to another state to be fixed.

On July 31, the monument will have been standing for 26 years. It is dedicated to "The Rank and File of the Confederate Army." It was erected and unveiled in 1895, after 13 years of labor by the Louisville Women's Monument Association, which collected $12,000 with which to build the monument.

The main shaft of the memorial, about 20 feet high, is topped by a bronze statue of a Confederate Soldier with four smaller statues near the bottom. An inscription on the base reads "Our Confederate Dead."

In the cornerstone brass box, there are many relics of the Civil War. Among these are a war story entitled "Who's the Patriot," written by Mrs. Flora McDonald Williams, of Louisville and a poem "Requiem Bells," written by Mrs. Sophie Fox See, also of Louisville. In addition there are photographs of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy; General Robert E. Lee, and Mrs. Susan Preston Hepburn, president of the Louisville Women's Monument Association, who directed the raising of funds for the monument.

Prospective Mothers who prepare carefully with Mother's Friend make Child-birth easier.

It is recorded of the primitive American Indian women that child-birth with them was entirely painless. Modern dress was unknown! Exact social duties that wreck so many women of today were a minus quantity in their lives; and so it is small wonder that the weaker sex becomes a prey to misgivings when approaching maternity nears the crisis. But this should not be—because——the prospective mother can find comfort in MOTHER'S FRIEND. An external lubricant that spreads its influence over the skin; penetrates to the broad, flat abdominal muscles, and prepares the way for an easier, quicker and practical delivery.
Many doctors and nurses recommend MOTHER'S FRIEND. Get a bottle from your druggist today.
Forcible booklet—"MOTHERHOOD and The BABY"—free, fill in coupon below and mail direct to the makers of MOTHER'S FRIEND.
WARNING: Avoid using plain oils, greases and substitutes—they act only on the skin and may cause harm without doing good.

USE OF PHOSPHATE AND LIMESTONE

Is Increasing Corn Yield Will Be Demonstrated at Berea on May 30

The value of acid phosphate and limestone in increasing crop yields in this section of the state will be one of the important topics to be brought out at the annual spring meeting on the Berea experiment field May 30, according to an announcement made by County Agent Robert F. Spense. Experiments conducted since 1913 on the field show that the use of these two materials has resulted in the corn yield being increased an average of $12.8 bushels per acre, wheat 6.6 bushels, soybean hay 1.568 pounds, and clover hay 2.163 pounds an acre.

Acid phosphate was used at the rate of 200 pounds per acre per year and limestone at the rate of two tons per acre for the rotation of corn, soybeans, wheat and clover.

The meeting is being held by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station in co-operation with County Agent Spence for the purpose of discussing the results of recent experiments along with other farm problems. Speakers at the meeting will be Director Thomas P. Cooper, of the Kentucky station, M. O. Hughes, special agent of the station, S. C. Jones, a member of the soils and crops department, and Prof. Geo. Roberts, head of the department.

(Louisville Times)

Although the exact date for opening the intensive campaign to obtain members for the co-operative marketing association of Kentucky burley tobacco growers remains undetermined, first steps in establishing the organization were considered at a meeting at the Pendennis Club yesterday of the executive committee appointed recently by Judge R. W. Bingham. Several other meetings of the committee are necessary according to Walter Hughes campaign manager, before the details of the organization, including the date for beginning the campaign, will be announced.

Present at the executive committee meeting were Judge Robt. W. Bingham, chairman; Will Simms, Woodford county; J. C. Stone, Lexington; Sam M. Halley, Lexington, and Ralph Barker, Carrollton.

Tentative plans call for the selection of chairmen in each of the forty counties in the burley belt in Central Kentucky to conduct the drive for membership in the co-operative association.

And for social engagements, what better car than the Milburn?

It has marked distinction in its low-swung design, and roomy comfort for five.

Being unusually light, the Milburn is very economical.

It is a car we delight in demonstrating.

SUFFERING OF A LIFETIME ENDED

Words Can't Express Gratitude I Feel Toward Tanlac, Says Mrs.
Burrington, Aged 68.

"From childhood until I got Tanlac, I suffered from indigestion and stomach trouble," said Mrs. J. A. Burrington, 540 Stanford Ave., Los Angeles, Cal., "and

MRS. J. A. BURRINGTON
Los Angeles, Calif.

that's been a long time, for I'm now in my sixty-eighth year.

"I remember when I was a child I was kept on a strict diet of lime water and milk for weeks and I have been in constant distress all these years. I have suffered terribly from bloating and had to be very careful of what I ate. I became so weak and nervous I could hardly go about my housework and was in a miserable condition.

"About two years ago my husband got such splendid results from Tanlac he insisted on my taking it and the medicine wasn't but a little while in ridding me of my troubles. It gave me a splendid appetite and I could enjoy a good hearty meal even things I hadn't dared touch before, without any fear of it troubling me.

"Then I had the influenza and became dreadfully sick and weak, but my stomach kept in good order and it only took four bottles of Tanlac to build me up again to where I'm feeling better than at any time I can remember. I have gained eleven pounds in weight, too, and words can't express the gratitude I feel toward Tanlac. I keep Tanlac in the house all the time now, for I know it is a medicine that can be depended upon."

THINKS RAILROADERS SHOULD GET MORE

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, May 4.—W. Jett Lauck, consulting economist of railroad unions, today told the railroad board that wages of unskilled railroad employees should be adjusted upward, not downward, if living costs and rates of pay in other industries are used as a basis in directing railroad workers pay. He presented a table showing that pay of unskilled workers in other industries are higher than unskilled railroad labor and asserted that decreased cost of living figures are deceiving. He declared a family of five could barely subsist on a $1,000 annual income, while $2,000 represented the "minimum comfort standard" and $2,500 the "progressive American standard."
